

Using Act for Eden website source files

Introduction

Much of the content on Eden Rivers Trust's websites is protected by intellectual property rights. Some materials produced with the support of The National Lottery Heritage Fund are released under Creative Commons open licences and tools. These materials are free for you to download and reuse under the terms below.

Our open access projects and materials include the source files for the Act for Eden website.

With materials marked with the CC-BY-NC 4.0 licence, you are free to:

Share - copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format.

Adapt - remix, transform and build upon the material.

Under the following terms:

Attribution - you must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the licence, and indicate if changes were made in a reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests we endorse you or your use.

Non-commercial – you may not use the material for commercial purposes.

These materials are protected by copyright and have been openly licensed for any reuse purpose, as long as these terms are followed. Learn more about the CC BY-NC 4.0 licence on the Creative Commons website.

Where possible, these materials are accompanied by the following button

Usage

Following the lead of Europeana and thanks to Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum, our guidelines for use suggest that users:

- Give attribution to Eden Rivers Trust.
- Contribute back any modifications or improvements.
- Do not mislead others or misrepresent the source files or Metadata.
- Be responsible.

- Understand that they use the data at their own risk.

Credit

- Appropriate credit should be provided clearly on your website.
